

Generating Questions

Generating questions is . . . asking questions that will guide my inquiry.

Generating questions is important because....
It focuses my reading on what I want to know.

I generate questions when ...

I am at the beginning of an inquiry project.

When I generate questions I ...

- Think about what my team and I already know.
- Consider what I would like to know about the topic.
- Brainstorm questions (e.g., Why...? How...?)
- Look at all my questions and identify those that are interesting and answerable but not too broad or too narrow.
- Record my questions on my Inquiry Chart.
